GDPR- What we are doing to safeguard your data

As the title suggests, any person or organisation that collects personal data about individuals has to be accountable. The legislation came into effect on May 25th, 2018. The rules demand that we scrutinise every aspect of what we do, and issue policy statements so that members are in no doubt as to what we do with the information and requires a positive "opt-in" option if they agree.

Privacy Notice

The club collects personal data from each member. This data consists of Title, Name, Address and Date of Birth. This is the minimum required to run a club such as ours- obviously we need your name and address to send you six copies of The Cultivator every year, and the date of birth is required by the NFU who provide the Public Liability Insurance that we all need to show our machines in public. Additional information eg e mail address and user id are recorded when registration is made on club website to enable management of website membership. Member details may be shared with committee members for specific purposes eg to invite members to events or seek assistance with enquiries received.

☐ Please tick this box and sign below if you agree to club keeping the above personal information.

Besides being in the possession of the Membership Secretary, we have to share the details with Lavenham Press (done over a password protected data transfer link) and the Bickerstaffe Association of Vintage and Collectors Clubs (agents for the NFU insurance). We have received assurances from both of these bodies that they hold the information in a secure manner and do not share it with any third party.

☐ Please tick this box and sign below if you agree to club sharing your personal information with the above organisations.

Retention Policy

Members' details are kept on file for five years before being discarded. This is a direct request from our insurers in case they have to act on a back-dated claim.

Subject Access Request

Requests about how we keep the information and what we keep. All requests should be made to the Membership Secretary, who must respond within 30 days to any requests for information and storage details.

Should a club member wish to remove their data from our list then this should be completed without delay, but the member must realise that doing so will terminate their club membership from that time onwards. Membership secretary contact details can be found on page 2 of The Cultivator.

Vintage Horticultural & Garden Machinery Club

The V.H.G.M.C. is a National organisation formed in January 1993 to promote an active interest in the preservation, exhibiting and operating of vintage equipment used in horticulture, allotment keeping and home gardening.

Equipment includes garden hand tools, sprayers, wheeled hoes and drills, grass keeping equipment, hedgecutters, garden rotavators to the larger pedestrian operated or ride on tractors and crawlers used for ploughing and cultivating within the horticultural industry.

Members attend steam rallies, vintage events, garden shows and ploughing matches where horticultural machines have their own competitive class. Details of such events are published in the club magazine 'The Cultivator' which is distributed free to members. As well as reporting on various events, the magazine includes an invaluable For Sale / Wanted section (free to members) which enables members to source that sought after component necessary to complete the restoration of a prized machine. The club also has a website and forum at www.vhgmc.co.uk

Remember – to join our friendly club you do not have to own any equipment – just have an interest in what we are doing.
